Council Sentences Florence Leidig Sign To Fifteen Days In Dog House; Dixon Guest House Also Put On Ice

It was heavy sledding for two real estate dealers in the arctic atmosphere of city hall Tuesday night when the council, reduced to three members held an adjourned regular meeting that was very disciplinary.

In the absence of Councilman Bernard Rowntree and Councilman Allen Knight, the burden of upholding the Carmel City ordinance governing sign hanging and of defending the city building code rested on the shoulders of Mayor P. A. McCreery, Councilman Fred Godwin and Councilman Frank Hefling, but they rose to the occasion with vim, vigor and considerable acrimony.

Cheering them on from the side lines were Building Inspector Floyd Adams and City Attorney Peter Ferrante.

Greeted with a round of frowns was the business of Florence Leidig Caverly's sign. Her application to hang a sign in front of her real estate office was in order and her dollar bill duly pinned thereon, and the sign apparently met the requirements of the ordinance governing such matters. There was only one catch. The sign was already up and had been for a number of days. Mrs. Caverly, following a good old Carmel custom, had hung the sign first and asked permission afterward, and the council expressed itself as being good and darned tired of such goings on. The members ordered Building Inspector Floyd Adams to see that the sign was removed and kept down until they got around to granting permission to hang it, which will not be for fifteen days, for they tabled Mrs. Caverly's petition until the next regular meeting, September 6. Florence Leidig Caverly wasn't present to see Building Inspector Adams' expansive smile which indicated that he wasn't seriously irked by the order.

Gladys K. Dixon, however, was on hand to present her case which concerned a garage that she had had moved from one spot on a largish lot to another spot on the same lot. The garage had been transformed into a small house with kitchen and plumbing equipment, and another garage had been

Sacred Concert In Honor Of Fr. Serra Sunday

Next Sunday, August 27th, marks the 160th anniversary of Father Junipero Serra's death. Its observance at the Carmel Mission will include a solemn high mass at 11 o'clock and a twilight sacred concert at 8 p.m. as well as a general communion of all parishioners, during which prayers will be offered for the canonization of Fr. Serra.

Present for the anniversary observance will be many visiting clergy and distinguished laymen. Rev. Brendan Mitchell of the Franciscan order, one of the notable speakers of the Pacific Coast area and well versed in the life of Father Serra, will preach the sermon. Also assisting in the solemn high mass will be the Reverend Gregory Woller, provincial of the Franciscans. Mr. Thomas Duffy, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, has promised to be present together with many of the state and national directors of the order, whose members are backing the drive for the canonization of Fr. Serra as well as working for the restoration of the various missions.

Following the celebration of solemn mass the customary wreath will be placed on Fr. Serra's tomb by Lady Antonia Field of San Francisco. Lady Field and her family have long been staunch supporters of Carmel Mission.

The twilight sacred concert is under the direction of Mr. Noel Sullivan, presiding at the organ, and the mission choir, consisting of

Dr. Phillips Candidate For Board

Dr. T. Grant Phillips, Carmel chiropractor, announced yesterday that he will file his nomination papers next week as a candidate for election to the Carmel Sanitary District Board.

For fifteen years a resident of Carmel, Dr. Phillips is a respected and well-liked citizen. For the past two years he has been devoting much of his time and organization ability to the Special Police, volunteer group that was organized in the early days of Civilian Defense and has continued, after the immediate need of civilian defense lessened, to serve the community by augmenting the Regular Police force whenever additional personnel is needed. They have been working on a systematic traffic survey, under Dr. Phillips, that when complete will be of great value to the city in dealing with a problem that is becoming more acute daily.

Dr. and Mrs. Phillips have a home in Hatton Fields. Their son, Deane, 8, attends Sunset, while Tommy, 25, formerly manager of the Carmel Theatre, is now stationed in China, a news reel photographer for Naval intelligence.

With the filing of Dr. Phillips' nomination papers, there will be three candidates for the three vacancies on the board. Board members Clayton B. Neill and Hugh Comstock, whose terms expire this month, have stated their intention to stand for election. Dr. J. B. McCarthy, whose term also expires, announced last week that he would not run again.

Also filing next week for reelection will be District Assessor

Drunkard Revival A Natural, True Carmel Tradition

By GENEVIEVE GARZERO

The Drunkard to pay off to Carmel Mission school fund. Sounds incongruous? Not at all, it's a natural.

Considering the background of the cast and of the drama itself, the presentation of The Drunkard on September 1 and 2, 8 and 9, at 8:30 p.m. at the Sunset Auditorium should prove a most successful combination.

Many associations link the forthcoming production with the long line of successful community projects here in Carmel. When the manuscript of the nineteenth century temperance drama was re-

Albright, Who Offered An Eclipse As Rival Attraction To Radio Show, Sees Big Future On The Kilocycles

Now in Carmel on a two-weeks' holiday, accompanied by his wife and their sixteen-year-old son, Eddie, Jr., is Radio Pioneer Eddie Albright, assistant program director for the Don Lee Broadcasting system in Hollywood.

Mr. Albright's career in radio dates back to the dim mists of '24, when programs were assembled more or less informally, making use of an orchestra and a singer or two, and frequently going on the air with little or no rehearsal, so that the warning of "Time's up" more often than not caught the performers midway through a musical number, or a speaker just working up to the grand climax of his oration. Eddie Albright was selling life insurance at the time and the head office of his firm was in Los Angeles.

"It occurred to me that a little radio publicity would be a good thing," he explains. "I called at the studio and found a new station just on the point of opening, with nobody in charge of programming. With the idea of getting my publicity free, I agreed to stay on and help out for a few days. On the fourth day the manager came in and found me busily answering phones and doing all sorts of chores. He suggested I stay on. I have been in radio ever since, first as an announcer, then as a news commentator, and for the

Attuned To Nature, Chang Shu-Ch'i Transmits It Through "The Winding And Exacting Road Of Painting"

BY ALISON STILWELL

The other day I went to see the first "imported" one man show the Carmel Art Association Gallery has held, and came away feeling that this new policy would be most successful. For the artist is Professor Chang Shu-Ch'i, one of the best known Chinese artists of today, famous both in China and the United States for his beautiful and refreshing paintings of flowers and birds. Professor Chang has developed his technique to a point where it seems to be a feat of magic to see him draw his brush over the paper and find left in its path a spray of magnolias, or perhaps a small bird in flight, is indeed a thrilling experience. The first feeling which comes to mind is that his work is vibrantly alive, so fresh and accurate that, in one picture, a rooster seems about to jump off a gnarled gate and sail down amongst the young chicks; his butterflies look as if they would flutter off to another flower painting at any moment, and his flowers and studies of bamboo tremble on their stems. Yet his work is not at all photographic—far from it; for, as Professor Chang himself says, is not a photograph better, if that is what one wants? No, in my own opinion, this artist has improved on Nature herself . . .

CARMEL PAPER DRIVE CANCELED

The paper drive, scheduled to take place next Saturday and Sunday in Carmel has had to be canceled, due to lack of transportation facilities. Any one who has waste paper or magazines, and is unable to get them to a filling station, can call the A. W. V. S. office, and these will be called for at the earliest possible date.

SWIM POOL TO STAY OPEN

Though the recreation program closes officially this week, arrangements have been made so that the swimming pool will continue to be available to Carmel children next week on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 2:30 to 4:30 with Mrs. Harriet Rudd in charge.

Mrs. Rudd points out that the pool will not open before 2:30 and requests that the children do not arrive before that time.

Here Are The Assists The Service Wives Center Offers The Families Of Military Personnel In Carmel

By GRACIE CRAFT

The Service Wives' Center, in the AWVS office, in the Pine Inn, Carmel, is still fulfilling the useful purpose for which it was started five months ago. It is the place where wives and families of Army and Navy men can come for information. There is an Army or Navy woman on duty from ten to four, on Monday thru Friday, and on Saturday morning until one o'clock. Questions about the community, special information useful to Servicemens' dependents, and help with the housing problem are among the topics often brought up at this desk. Many people, wishing to help in the war emergency by sharing their homes, have listed rooms or apartments with the Center, and newcomers can always find at least temporary lodging thru this agency.

The Roster of Service families residing in Carmel has proved to be of value to those seeking for friends who may live here but are not in the telephone book. All Army or Navy wives are urged to register, whether they are newly come to Carmel or have lived here for some time. It will be much appreciated if people who are already registered will inform the office when they leave, so that their card may be removed from the permanent file and the new address may be noted. A large bulletin board in the office offers rides or asks for riders to and from Fort Ord, and even has opportunities for motoring to other parts of the country by sharing expenses or driving a car. A list of women and girls who stay with children is available. This has been a real service both to those who want their children cared for and those who are seeking such employment.

During the summer months a playroom has been maintained at the Sunset School on Wednesday and Friday mornings. This will be continued at another location when school starts in September. "The Playroom" has been a great convenience to busy mothers, in providing a place where little ones can be left for two hours when a mother needs some free time for appointments or shopping. About 25 children have been attending each morning, and there is an adult or high school helper for each four or five children. All children of pre-school age are welcome, at the nominal charge of twenty-five cents for the morning. Sturdy toys are needed by the "Playroom." If anyone has such things that they no longer need, please call Mrs. J. J. Werner, the director of the project.

People wishing to do volunteer work will be advised of the pressing needs on the Peninsula, and those looking for jobs will also receive advice and assistance.

Mrs. George McK. Williamson is the very capable chairman of the Center, assisted by a group of friendly desk personnel who cordially invite all Army and Navy wives to make the Service Wives' Center their headquarters. Newcomers, especially, are invited to get acquainted with the Center, but all Service families are urged to make the Center a habit.

What makes a train run?

When a train such as the Cascade, Overland Limited, Golden State Limited or Sunset Limited thunders by, all you're conscious of is the thrill of a thousand tons of steel going places. You may catch a brief, friendly wave from the engineer, but he's about the only man you see.

The purpose of this advertisement is to take you behind the scenes and show you how many men and women are necessary to make a train run. The locomotives, cars and tracks are only the tools with which these people work.

1 Besides the Engineer and Fireman, a long distance train usually carries Railroad and Pullman Conductors, Brakemen, Porters, Steward, Cooks, Waiters, Baggagemen, Mail Clerk, Express Messenger. For example, our streamlined Daylight (San Francisco-Los Angeles), requires 62 people.

2 Track Workers "manicure" every foot of Southern Pacific's 15,000 miles of line. Carpenters and Bridge and Building Men maintain the countless bridges, tunnels and trestles.

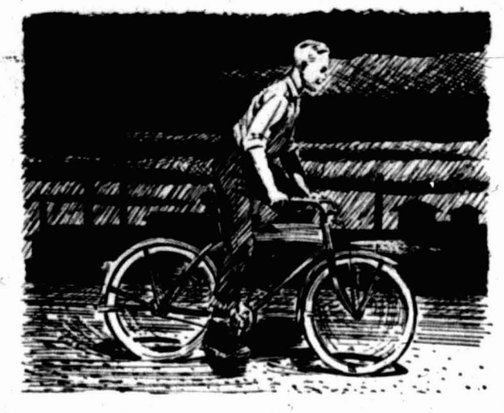
3 Signalmen, Electricians and Linemen regularly inspect and repair the thousands of miles of wire, and all the signals, motors and apparatus it takes to run trains safely and on time.

4 Dispatchers control the movements of trains, sometimes automatically by "Centralized Traffic Control" (see above). Telegraphers receive train orders and report train movements.

5 Lubricators, Greasemen, Boiler Inspectors and their helpers give locomotives a thorough going over at the end of every run, put them in tip-top shape.

6 Machinists, Blacksmiths, Boilermakers, Carmen, Sheet Metal Workers and other craftsmen repair war-worn equipment for the busy Main Line.

8 Car Cleaners, Car Inspectors, Air Brake Inspectors and Electrical Inspectors are among the thousands of workers who help to make the railroad run.



9 Last but not least, the Call Boy—smallest cog in the railroad machine. He wakes up the train crew and makes sure they report for duty on time.

7 Commissary Workers make sure that only the finest food is prepared in S.P. diners. Last year Southern Pacific served more military meals than any other two railroads combined!

League Officers Meet To Discuss Policies For The Coming Year

By L. L. T.

The local officers and committee chairmen of the League of Women Voters met at the Carmel Valley home of the president, Mrs. Louise Grigsby, Wednesday for a box luncheon and to plan the activities of the organization for the coming year.

For more than two decades the League of Women Voters has been active in California and nationally in the United States. It is a strictly non-partisan—or, rather, inter-party organization—devoted to the study of matters important to every citizen: local and state laws, especially those affecting child welfare and family health and security; public projects, etc., affecting taxation; labor practices and laws pertaining to working women and children; national policies on these matters and foreign policy; the election of local, state, and national officials, in fact, all matters the well-informed citizen should know.

The Monterey County branch of the League has been functioning about half that time, but because of the gas rationing, two years ago it separated into two groups, one centered at Salinas, the other on the Monterey Peninsula. This latter, with Mrs. Louise Grigsby of Carmel as president, holds a general meeting quarterly in addition to monthly study groups on the subject of foreign policy, and occasional called meetings for the report of a public official, or to hear candidates for office speak before a general election. Such meetings are open to the public, as the purpose of the League is to spread information to all citizens, so far as possible.

The national organization issues numerous leaflets for distribution, embodying the findings of the state and national research committees on problems of national and international importance. A program of study of legislative questions is adopted at the national convention from subjects suggested by the state organizations, and a plan of action is undertaken to influence legislation for the benefit of all citizens. The policies of the National League of Women Voters for 1943-44, as outlined at the Wednesday meeting by Mrs. Blanchard Steeves, local legislative chairman are as follows:

1—Support of measures to aid in securing better motion pictures for children.

2—Federal aid to states to equalize opportunity for public education.

3—Legislation in the interest of the consumer, including: Strengthening of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and its administration.

Development of standards of quality for consumer goods.

Opposition to laws which authorize price-fixing contracts between manufacturer and retailer.

Consumer protection through grade-labeling, rationing and subsidies.

4—Coordination of the social insurance program of the Federal government and extension of coverage.

Insurance for medical care.

Benefits for temporary and permanent disability.

Nationalization of unemployment compensation insurance.

5—Preservation of civil liberties and protection of minority groups against discrimination.

6—Strengthening of government procedures to improve the legislative processes and the relationship between Congress and the Executive, including a constitutional amendment changing procedures for approving treaties to a more democratic process.

7—Opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution because this measure gives no assurance of improving the status of women and would jeopardise gains already won through years of patient effort.

8—The League favors a war and post-war finance program based as far as possible on tax revenues which take into account control of inflation, fair distribution of the tax burden, and opposes a federal sales tax which would be an unfair method falling heaviest on the lower income taxpayers, since they spend most of their incomes for taxed commodities, and a federal tax added to the state tax would create a hardship on consumers.

9—International. The League favors participation by the United States in plans and machinery for world-wide relief and rehabilitation for handling common economic, social, and political problems: membership of the United States in a general inter-national organization, eventually to include all peoples, regardless of race, religion or political persuasion, for peaceful settlement of disputes, with power to prevent or stop aggression.

WHAT'S DOING on the RECREATION PROGRAM

By HARRIET RUDD, Director

This past week has seen the climax of the Carmel Recreational Program. On Thursday, August 17, the cooking class made 15 dozen cookies to be served at the USO. On Saturday, the girls had an opportunity to serve the cookies to the soldiers from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

Friday afternoon, August 18, was the last day of the sewing class. The girls have made a number of interesting articles for the Red Cross both in paper cut-out work and actual sewing.

Wednesday, August 23, at the swimming pool, a demonstration was put on for the parents. Those who walked off with the ribbon prizes were: David McNerney, for greatest improvement; Susan Stoney, best floater; Robert Gunn, fastest swimmer; Anita Machado, best form. In the advanced group, Carol Burrows came in first and Dale Siemons, second, in the dash; Carol Burrows and Vera Williamson, first; Dale Siemons and Ronny Stoney, second, in the relay. Carol Burrows won the award for best form and Ronny Stoney for both the best diver and for the greatest improvement.

Thursday the tea party was held, A number of parents attended to see the exhibit of the work the children had done during the summer. The nature study class had an exhibit of marine forms observed on the rocks. The sewing class exhibited its work. The cooking class made the cookies for the tea and served. The pottery class showed the ash trays, candlestick holders, and many other articles that had been made during the summer. The supervised play group showed the cross word puzzles it had fixed for the wounded soldiers in the hospitals. Scrapbooks made by the USO group drew many favorable comments.

As the program closes, I want to express my sincere gratitude for the help, cooperation, hard work and good spirit rendered by the following people: Mrs. Grace Howden for her kind cooperation in making the swimming pool a success; the AWVS organization; Mr. Harold Nielsen; Mrs. Alice Whitesides, in charge of USO Scrapbook group; Mrs. Lillian Greene, cooking class; Mrs. Pauline Heisinger and Miss Elizabeth Niles, library and story hour; Mrs. Hugh Dormody, Mrs. G. A. Moller, Mrs. Frank K. Timmins, sewing class; Diane Tait, Bicycle Club, and the folowing Junior AWVS workers: Mary Gregory, Charlotte Finger, Suzita Cecil, Barbara Stoney and Billie Claire Mason.

Col. Weller Now Executive Officer Of 6th Air Force Command

Appointment of Colonel Richard C. Weller to the post of Executive Officer of the Sixth Air Force Fighter Command was announced last week by Caribbean Defense Command headquarters.

Col. Weller, whose wife, Helen, and five-year-old daughter, Judith, live in Carmel, is well informed on problems relative to the defense of the Panama Canal, as he has been stationed in the Caribbean theater of operations during the past year as a Base Commander. Early in his military career, which dates back to 1932, following his graduation from Fordham University, N. Y., he was stationed in the Canal Zone as a fighter pilot.

New Market To Open In Goold Building Next Month

Opening soon in what was formerly the Village Five and Dime on Ocean Avenue, is the new Top Hat Market, to be owned and operated by S. Crispin and Jay Keeley. Both are local men, Mr. Keely having represented Swift & Co. on the Peninsula for the past seven years, Mr. Crispin having been in charge of Holman's grocery department for some time.

Mr. Keeley, who will serve as manager, intends to operate the establishment as a food market, offering groceries, meats and vegetables. He emphasizes that it is to be independently owned, in the Village tradition; it will be renovated and put into "Top Hat" condition, with a tentative opening date set for September 29.

Very Naked Man's License Number Slightly Passe

A naked man bounced out of a black coupe on Highway No. 1 near the High School Monday morning and made "vulgar" gestures, Mrs. Franklin T. Burt, who was out for a morning canter, reported to police.

She fled on her horse and the distressing vision got back into his car and drove away, Mrs. Burt said. Albright Sees Big Future On The Radio Kilocycles

It was during the infant days of broadcasting that Mr. Albright first introduced Don Blanding on the air, beginning a lasting friendship, the motif of this and frequent other visits to Carmel.

A recent experience of Mr. Albright's served to bring back the memory of those first informal days in radio. He was being introduced as a Rotary Club speaker and the lawyer presenting him identified Mr. Albright as one who figured in the first case which came his way after hanging out his shingle. He had been called to the defense of a client being sued by the radio firm for money he claimed he did not owe for his contracted time, since his quarter-hour program had been interrupted once near the end by Eddie Albright, breaking in to announce that an eclipse of the sun was at the moment visible from certain high elevations such as the top of Mt. Wilson. The young lawyer lost his first case, the judge ruling that there were so few radio sets in high, isolated places that his client could have lost only a relatively small portion of his audience through Mr. Albright's announcement of a rival attraction.

Carmel's visitor waxes eloquent when speaking of post-war broadcasting facilities, and their wider use in education.

"It has already been demonstrated," he points out, "that youth can be educated through the use of radio in one-third to one-half the time formerly thought necessary. It is part of radio post-war planning to set aside certain hours throughout each day for the sole purpose of school-room education."

He paints a glowing picture of the future of television, all the West Coast facilities of which were turned over to the Army immediately following Pearl Harbor.

Still more important in its relation to the entertainment field, according to Mr. Albright, is the fact that radio engineers working in cooperation with the army, have all this time been bringing to perfection frequency modulation facilities. A frequency modulation studio in Hollywood is now connected by f.m. telephone lines to a transmitter on Mt. Lee, and programs are regularly broadcast, their reception limited by the fact that only about 10,000 of the new sets are now in use. With their widespread use following the war, predicted by Mr. Albright, static will be reduced to a memory. The frequency moduation band, sensitive to 15,000 cycles, practically the full capacity of the human ear, will eliminate all distortions of sound and bring to the listener every delicate overtone of musical instrument, speaking and singing voice.

Medora Arnold

Private funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at Paul's Chapel in Pacific Grove, with Rev. Albert E. Clay officiating, for Mrs. Medora Arnold whose death occurred on Thursday evening, August 17, at a Peninsula rest home, following a month's illness.

Msr. Arnold was born 86 years ago in Howell, Missouri, and was the widow of Marshall Hastings Arnold. Prior to the time, thirty years ago, when she came to make her home in Carmel, much of her life had been spent in travel, and to the last she retained an active interest in world as well as civic affairs. Possessed of an unusually bright and interesting personality and an acute insight into human character, she made a lasting place for herself in the affections of a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Louise Arnold Fry, and a grand daughter, Miss Sally Fry, both of Carmel; and by a son, Captain Marshall Arnold, U. S. N.

Forest Fire Still Threatening On Salinas Front

Though the Carmel Valley side of the 25,000 acre forest fire that broke out Sunday afternoon on the Cahoon Ranch, 30 miles South of Carmel is reported under control, fire crews were still battling the blaze on the Salinas side of the ridge Thursday.

Some timber has been destroyed, but the greatest damage to date had been the distruction of grazing on the range land. Authorities believe the cause of the fire was the illegal use of tracer bullets by deer hunters.

POST CARD VOTE FOR B. A.

As there was not a quorum at last week's meeting of the Carmel Business Association, the membership is being circularized this week by post card to determine if they wish to continue sponsorship of the Carmel Information Bureau.

Police Commissioner Allen Knight was speaker at the meeting, discussing the subject of forgery and bad check passing.

President Lemos Here On Thursday To Help Prospective Jaysees

President John B. Lemos of Salinas Junior College will be at Carmel High School on Thursday, August 31, at 1:30 to 4 p. m., to answer questions which parents and students may have concerning the courses of study they wish to follow during the jaysee's Fall semester.

The Junior Colege will again continue the arrangement of units for the benefit of students who might be forced to withdraw from college because of the draft. Units for all courses will be based upon three-week periods, so that draftees will be awarded complete credit up to the last day of attendance.

The jaysee president will bring with him copies of the college catalog, courses of study, and schedule of classes, and persons desiring to procure such information may do so at the above scheduled meeting.

Registration for the fall semester will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5 and 6, with classes convening on Thursday, September 7.

There'll Be Smoke But No Cause For Alarm In Burnt Area

Though the forest fire ten miles down the coast that burned over 1500 acres last week is now under control, there will be smoke visible over the area for some time, according to Assistant State Ranger Jean Sindel, who pointed out that logs and stumps will simmer for several days, and "some of the big redwoods will keep on smouldering until the rains come."

The loss was greatest in the distruction of the grazing. The only timbered area that came within the scope of the fire was that in Doud and Williams canyons, not much more than ten acres of scattered growth.

"A few of the redwoods came down. I know, I was near one when it did," said Sindel. "But where ever possible, we ringed the tree, cut away the grass and brush so the fire wouldn't reach them. And most of those that were burned will come out of it all right and continue growing."

Captain Bruce Cator Reported Rescued

Word has been received by his aunt, Mrs. Argyll Campbell, that Captain Bruce Cator, Army Air Force pilot reported missing in action over Jugoslavia since July 15, was "rescued right under the German noses" and is now safe at his air base.

No further details of the rescue are yet available.

WAC PREWETT LEAVES

Kathleen Prewett left Tuesday for San Francisco where she will spend several days before going to Des Moines for her basic training in the WACs.

Bernard Rowntree SAYS:

If There Is a Heaven—

During my nearly seventy years I have been in all kinds of places and have known people that are normally classed as good and bad.

I believe that the majority of people understand the Golden Rule to mean acting towards others as we would like them to act towards us.

Bernard Shaw is credited with saying, "Don't do unto others as you would be done to, because tastes differ."

Judging people hereabouts, by which I mean Carmel and as far as its influence is felt, I would say the people here do not as a normal thing go by the Golden Rule. They do a darn sight far more for others than they expect or want others to do for them.

If there is a heaven and if it is my good fortune to land up there some day, I will not be surprised whoever I see there. That is, judging by what I have seen of people and their doings here on earth. Some times I think it would not take a heck of a lot of effort on our part to make a heaven right here on earth.

Old Joe said to Young Joe . . .

". . . when you get over there in the thick of it, son, you won't have time to think about the fancy ideals you're supposed to be fighting for. You'll be interested mostly in shooting straight, and shooting first.

"But some night when you're lying out under the stars, you'll probably figure the whole thing out—and it will be very simple.

"You'll realize that you're fighting to protect the kind of decency and freedom you were raised in—and will want to raise your kids in, too.

"You'll be fighting to protect the opportunity that all Americans have of starting at the bottom and getting to the top—and that's typically American.

"You're fighting to protect your right to live your own life in your own way without being pushed around by some bright young bureaucrat who wants to do all your planning for you.

"That's about all there is to it, son. But it's mighty worth while—this business of keeping our freedom—of sticking to the things that have made America great.

"I've often thought that our own family was a pretty good example of what can happen in this country—and nowhere else. I started as a chore boy on this very farm, when I was ten years old. Made up my mind I'd own it some day. Nothing in the world to stop me—if I really wanted it.

"We didn't have good roads in those days. No cars or trucks or tractors. No radios. No airplanes. No telephones, movies, or electric lights.

"I didn't have much education—didn't have the time or money to get it. But I made up my mind that my own children would have some of the things I didn't have.

"You've had a good education. You went to agricultural college. You've traveled around the country in your car. You've seen how the other fellow lives and runs his farm. You keep up to date through your radio, your reading—and your various farm associations.

"And, son, it's hard to believe that most of the inventions, advantages and improvements that have made you more efficient and more comfortable, have happened in my lifetime.

"But that's the very thing I'm talking about. That's the power of America. We've got push in this country—and ingenuity—the determination to keep on getting stronger and better all the time. And all of us have got to see that nothing stops that kind of progress—neither enemies from the outside, nor from the inside.

"You're a chip off the old block, son. You think about the way I do. You work hard—very hard. But you've had more advantages than I had. And you're a better man in every way. You'll go farther.

"You're the new type of American farmer. You're running a business when you farm today. It's a mighty important business too—and you've got to know your stuff.

"Just remember this, my boy—you're a free agent. Your future is under your hat. You have seen what our American way of doing things has meant to you and me and millions of others, in opportunity, progress and happiness. That's what you're really fighting for, son. You put the heat on, over there—and I'll put it on over here."

FROM A WINDOW IN

VAGABOND'S HOUSE.. By Don Blanding

Among the many classifications of humanity there is this one which is timely in relation to Carmel; 1—people who leave clutter, mess and litter along the streets and beaches; 2—people who cry out in righteous indignation "there should be a law against this," but do nothing about it; 3—people who quietly clean up the mess, litter and clutter of others because they like to see beauty and order in their home town.

Due to the confusion of these times there are many people in this lovely village to whom Carmel is just a temporary resting place, they care nothing for the traditions of beauty of Carmel, so, "t'-hell with it, scatter papers, throw bottles in the street, leave rubbish on the beach; we don't owe this town anything." Even some Carmelites are not guiltless of dragging their garden rubbish across the street and dumping it in a vacant lot to dry, blow and make the street look rag-tag-and-bobtail.

I blushed guiltily to find that I belonged partially in the second classification. While taking my usual evening walk down to Santa Lucia, along the marsh, around by the sand pit, up and around the Point, I came to a place on the beach which spoke eloquently of the kind of people who had been there. Paper cups, opened tin cans, cracker boxes, a pie plate, cigarette packages, beer bottles, paper napkins, gave mute witnesses to the fact that a party had taken full enjoyment of the beauty and happiness of the beach, had gorged to repletion, had risen and gone away from there without picking up so much as a burned match. "It's not OUR beach; we should worry." If a wave of clay could have swept over the spot and embalmed the whole collection, it would have given interesting conjecture for an archeologist in the year 5000 as to the life of the primitives of 1944.

I snorted and fumed in the best Carmel tradition, and cried loudly against the barbarians who were "spoiling this lovely spot." My walking companion let me bumble and rumble to a full stop, then waited before saying "And then what?" I looked blank for a moment. "Aren't you going to do something about it," said this very practical person, "let's burn the danged stuff and get it out of the way." We did, and enjoyed a pleasant little dusk-fire by the sea; we scattered the ashes and walked on with the highly virtuous sense of having really accomplished something. But my collar begins to singe with shame when I think how my fulminations were as empty as the Post-war promises of politicians until I had actually been reminded to do something about it.

There's no doubt about it, Carmel's streets and the beach are a mess, a shameful, slattern, unlovely slovenly mess. We know that there is not adequate machinery for policing and cleaning up all of it, BUT, IF EACH CARMELITE WOULD PICK UP JUST twelve PIECES OF PAPER OR TRASH, each day, ONE DOZEN BITS OF CLUTTER every time he walked up for the mail, or strolled on the beach, or wandered along viewing the gardens and beauty-vistas of the town, it would soon make a remarkable difference. The rubbish could either be taken home and burned, or discreetly ditched where it would not be an eyesore any longer. If some of the overstuffed ladies, or the ones who are just finding their curves turning to bulges would do their bending over exercises this way, two ends would be served . . . and that's exactly what I mean. The men who bulge above and below the belt line would benefit, too, and the thin ones could have the reward which virtue is . . . its own (though some say only) reward.

One of the most attractive smaller towns in Florida, Vero Beach, has its spring and autumn Community Clean-up, an event which is a holiday, a day of accomplishment and a good time enjoyed by all. All of the business men, school children and high school students are the active pickers-uppers, cleaners-uppers, weeders, planters and such vigorous activity-doers; the women of the clubs, church organizations and civic societies provide coffee, cookies, lunches, etc, including lemonades and orangeades if the day is hot, for the clean-up crew. New planting is put in; trimming and shavings are done; vistas opened up; a general furbishing which shows magnificent results through the year, besides acquainting the townspeople with their own town and establishing a sense of civic pride which is more than a word. Slackers, incidentally, are made to feel their shame very pointedly. It's a jolly, rollicking, healthy day which Carmel could copy with benefit . . . and a lot of fun if organized right.

If any of you notice that my figure has changed from a good resemblance to a busted sofa and has taken on slim, not to say svelte, lines, it will be due to conscientious "pick 'em up, pick 'em up." For those who do not like to stoop over, a sharpened walking stick can spear the stray paper very efficiently.

Good luck, good stooping, good figure, good citizen.

Edna Richardson

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Orville B. Jones who made the acquaintance of Mr. Jones' mother, Mrs. Edna Richardson, when she visited her son here during the year 1942, were saddened to learn of her sudden death following a heart attack on Wednesday, August 16, at her home in Ellensberg, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Ellensberg on Thursday morning and plan to return next Monday.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Richardson is survived by two grandsons: Cadet Kenneth Jones, now home on a short leave before entering St. Mary's Pre-Flight school, to which he has been transferred from Kentucky; and Cadet Orville Jones, completing his training with the Navy Air Corps at Pensacola, Florida.

Col. Walter Receives Bronze Star In Italy

Colonel Mercer C. Walter, Carmel, recently was awarded the Bronze Star for exceptionally meritorious service in support of combat operations while serving with II Corps on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

During a Corps drive from Minturno that led to the capture of Rome, Walter, as assistant chief of staff, G-2, handled the numerous problems that developed upon his section with efficiency, dispatch, and understanding of the tactical problems involved. His reports of enemy situation were notable for their terseness, lucidity, and accuracy. In a fast moving operation he managed to keep abreast of enemy dispositions, and the information thus obtained was of inestimable value to the Corps commander and staff in planning the successive stages of their attack.

"The keen professional skill and devotion to duty displayed by Col. Walter throughout the campaign exemplify the finest traditions of the military service," the citation with the award said.

Walter entered the military service at Carmel. His wife, Mabel Walter, lives at 3000 Tilden street Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Waltz King Opens At Curran Monday

The popularity of the enchanting and immortal music of Johann Strauss is undoubtedly the reason why "The Waltz King" opening at the Curran, San Francisco, Monday, August 28, which gay operetta depicts in music and story of the life, loves and music of Strauss, broke box office records last year when in but nine weeks of its run, playing Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago. At the Curran in 1943 it packed the capacious Curran for three solid weeks.

Richard Bonelli, of the Metropolitan Opera, sings this season once again the role of the colorful Johann Strauss. Charlotte Boerner, popular concert recitalist, is the new Henrietta; Anthony Marlowe and Marjorie Cooke sing their original roles. Litzie Helm is the vixenish Vicky; Jack Gardner, popular stage, screen and radio comedian, furnishes chief amusement as the Prime Minister; James B. Carson is Mandel, and Monroe Manning plays the interpolated Count Poleski.

A large singing chorus augments the symphony orchestra. The Kathryn Etienner ballets "The Fountain" and "The Emperor's Ballet" headed by American prima ballerina, Beth Dean, and assisted by Hubert Bland, Ivy Kirby and Lois Goodman, stop the show at every performance by their colorful choreography.

The entire production of "The Waltz King" has been staged by Theodore Bachenheimer, an authority on Straussiana, with management of Eugene Schwartz.

There will be a bargain priced matinee Wednesday, August 30. Regular matinees are every Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Phelps to Wed

Announcement was made last Saturday of the engagement of Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Phelps, prominent Carmel Valley resident, to Lieutenant Commander John Payson Adams, Medical Corps, U. S. N. R., the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Lemuel Payson Adams of Oakland. A graduate of Stanford University and McGill University, Lt. Commander Adams returned to the United States last May after nearly two years' overseas service with the Second Marine Division.

Mrs. Phelps has taken a very active part in local Red Cross work, organizing on March 15, 1941, and continuing to sponsor the outstandingly efficient Carmel Valley Unit of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Her wedding to Lt. Commander Adams will take place at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, August 29, at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, attended only by members of the two families and a few close friends. Her sister, Mrs. William John Warburton of New York, is expected to arrive in San Francisco on Monday to be present at the ceremony.

Record Crowd at Gallery Tea

The Sunday afternoon reception and tea held at the Carmel Art Association Gallery in honor of Professor Chang Shu-Chi attracted an attendance of around 500, the largest recorded in the gallery's history to date. Visitors eager to witness the demonstration of Chinese painting scheduled between 3 and 4, began arriving at 2:30, filling every available seat, and by the tea hour the main gallery, the George F. Beardsley Memorial room and the water color gallery were filled with Carmel citizenery, uniformed men from the Presidio and Fort Ord and a large number of out-of-town visitors.

Mrs. Joseph W. Stilwell presided at the tea table, which had been tastefully arranged by Tilly Polak, with white gladioli from the garden of Dr. Margaret Levick, and assisting Mrs. Elizabeth Case in her hostess duties were Miss Margot Oliver, Mrs. Carol Howard, Miss Alison Stilwell, Mrs. Richard Lofton of Pacific Grove and Corporal Frank Wright of the Presidio of Monterey.

Present in the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Abel Warshawsky, recently returned from Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Oliver; Beniamino Bufano, here from San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Williams, Mr. William Watts, Mr. and Mrs. David Alberto, Mr. and Mrs. John Clay, Charlotte Morgan, Mr. Herbert Heron, Dr. Margaret Levick and Johan Hagemeyer.

With Big Top and Puppets

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Pilot at Casanova and Eighth street was the setting for an exciting and original party given on Thursday, August 10, in celebration of their little daughter Suzann's fourth birthday. Main feature of the afternoon's entertainment was a performance of It's None Too Easy given by the Walter Scott Marionettes in the spacious Pilot living room, during which the puppets made a point of felicitating small Suzann, to the great delight of the juvenile audience. Following the performance, the guests assembled about the dining room table, gaily decorated to suggest a circus, with its central motif a huge birthday cake in the shape of a drum, banded with red and surmounted by a lace doily canopy held up by peppermint candy poles, under which a ringmaster marshaled his animal performers. Tiny curls of confetti adorned the canopy, sugar cookie animals marched up and down the table, and festoons of bright serpentine hung from the ceiling. At each place was a miniature replica of the birthday cake in the form of a name card, a pink popcorn ball and a red candy apple tied with yellow ribbon. Then, too, each child had his own party hat and a horn to blow.

Suzann's guests included Paul and Stephen Munkdale, Victoria and Janet Bivens, Michael Elsen, Philip Baumgartner, Carol Goodrich, Marcia Ann and Mary Lou Stanyan, Camille Stahl, Bruce Bixler and David Tobiasen. Assisting hosts were Mrs. Pilot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCaman; Her sister-in-law, Mrs. LeEarl McCaman; Mrs. J. W. Farley, Jr., and the latter's mother, Mrs. M. L. Foster of St. Louis.

Betrothal Announced

At a luncheon party given on Thursday, August 17, in the Hatton Fields home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenford E. Mathews, the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Jean Mathews, to Lieutenant William O. McCollister, U. S. Marine Corps, was announced to a group of the bride-elect's friends which included the Misses Rosemary Powell, Maeve Greenan, Suzanne Watson, Sally Timmins, Maxine Lannin of San Jose and Marion Church and Marilyn Moore of Salinas.

Miss Mathews attended Douglas School and has completed her freshman year at the College of Notre Dame, Burlingame. After spending the latter part of the summer at her parents' Lake Tahoe cottage, she plans to enter the University of Oregon.

Lt. McCollister is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George O. McCollister of Long Beach, and attended the University of California at Los Angeles, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is stationed at present at New Bern, North Carolina, and the setting of the wedding date awaits Marine Corps orders.

Republican Meeting

Friends are invited to attend the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's Club at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, August 26, at the Girl Scout House, Sixth and Lincoln. Theme of the meeting will be "Opening Guns of the Campaign," consisting in a preliminary discussion of campaign issues. Mrs. Helen Clark Cranston, Republican Central Committeewoman, will explain the procedure for registering for election and for voting by civilian absentees and service men and women.

Lt. Hagemeyer in France

Lieutenant Max Hagemeyer, who has been flying a P-38 from an English base since June, is now in France. His squadron was moved to the new base early in August. This saves crossing the Channel to and from missions and is a great advantage. Lt. Hagemeyer is delighted with the warm, sunny climate after the rainy English weather. He says it reminds him of California.

Mr. Praeger Home Again

His wide circle of Carmel friends are this week rejoicing to find Mr. H. J. Praeger home again and recovered in health after several weeks of confinement in the hospital. This week brought, too, a letter from Dublin, its stamp bearing the likeness of Sir William Rowan Hamilton, world famous mathematician and former president of the Royal Irish Academy, and containing the news that Mr. Praeger's brother, Robert Lloyd Praeger, noted botanist and author of several scientific books in addition to a delightful record of his wanderings through Ireland, entitled The Way I Went, is now himself the occupant of the presidential chair at the Royal Irish Academy. Mr. Praeger's sister, the well known sculptress, Rosamond Praeger, makes her home in Belfast.

Girl Of The Week

She's little Carol Walker, who arrived at the Peninsula Community Hospital at 9:45 a. m. on Thusday, August 24, weighing just under five and a half pounds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Walker of Castro Lane and Quadalupe, and a new sister for 5-year-old David Charles Walker. Her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lola B. Walker, was here from her home in Tacoma, Washington, on time to greet the newcomer.

Kippy Stuart Named Honorary Member Of Eugene Field Society

Word reached Carmel this week of a new honor confered upon Mrs. G. W. Stuart, "Kippy" to all who have read and enjoyed her Pledge of Piang, and other books.

At a recent meeting of the board of governors of the Eugene Field Society, national association of authors and journalists, a resolution was adopted to the effect that an honorary membership may be conferred upon an author, in recognition of his or her outstanding contribution to contemporary literature. Accordingly, on August 9, the name of Mrs. Florence Partello Stuart was entered on the roll of honorary members, in deference to "the literary skill and craftsmanship" evidenced in her published works.

A certificate of membership, engrossed on parchment paper, will shortly arrive for "Kippy," enrolling her name on a distinguished roster which already includes such well-knowns as E. Phillips Oppenheim, Edgar Lee Masters, Compton Mackenzie, Rupert Hughes, Joseph C. Lincoln, Eve Curie, Alfred Noyes, Konrad Bercovici, Dorothy Canfield Fisher and George Ade.

discovered at Berkeley in 1932, a group of Carmel players was the first to present this highly stylized piece in a gallery where now the Carmel Pine Cone is located.

From this beginning the play went on to its phenomenal success in Los Angeles where it has run continuously the last 12 years with the same production manager, Galt Bell.

Ruth Marion McElroy, directing the present show, will play the role she created originally and in which she appeared in Los Angeles for three years. Fritz Wurzmann also of the original Carmel cast will appear, this time in a different role. Other players have been associated with revivals of the popular melodrama in the First Theatre in Monterey are well known in Carmel theatre projects.

And now it is most fitting—this tie-up with the Mission school fund, harking back to the Middle Ages when the Church sponsored all drama. For in a sense, The Drunkard is a Morality Play, the theme being the struggle between Good and Evil with Virtue prevailing in the end.

All that remains now is for the cast to put it over to such an extent that the audience will reach for the pledge book on the way out. However, Ken Carleton, the production manager, assures the patrons the main purpose is to bring back a bit of old Carmel and at the same time help to build a piece of the new.

RED + NEWS

By HELEN A. FIELD

Everyone knows how long the casualty lists from our European Front are and is shocked by the knowledge. Surely we want to do everything we can to save the lives and the health of the wounded on those lists.

Surgical Dressings workrooms in Red Cross Chapters throughout our land face a situation in which more workers are needed than ever before. Our own Surgical Dressings Unit is no exception, in fact we are in great need of additional volunteers in spite of the fact that every week our regular loyal workers are at their posts. The American Red Cross has been asked to furnish the Armed Forces with 100,000,000 dressings a month, over a billion a year. These dressings are being used to help bind the wounds of our boys: without them many of these boys would not return home.

Considering the sacrifices our men are making to protect us from the kind of world our enemies would have us live in should they be victorious, it seems little enough for us to do to plan our time so that we can spend a few hours a week working on dressings that may ease their pain and bring them back to us alive and strong. This is no phantom need but a very real and immediate one that only constant and determined effort can meet. Let us put aside some of our less worthy activities for the time and work for our wounded men.

Council Sentences Florence Leidig Sign To Fifteen Days In Dog House

built on the original foundations, all without permit, and contrary to the ordinance that prohibits two dwelling units from occupying the same lot. Miss Dixon said she thought the contractor who had done the moving and building had attended to the building permit, and in consideration of the size of the lot, requested the city council to declare it two lots, a "jerrymander" lot.

The city council wasn't inclined to see the matter in the same light. "I think most of the citizens want to keep this a town of homes, rather than a place of rentals," Councilman Godwin said." The ordinance is designed to protect home owners by preventing the crowding together of little rental houses on adjacent property."

On the motion of Councilman Helfing the matter was tabled until the next regular meeting. Miss Dixon's request that she be allowed in the meanwhile to rent the house under discussion was denied.

The request by letter of the Mission Trails Society for a contribution of $25 to their publicity fund, designed to interest out-of-state people in the attractions of California, was refused by the council on the contention that Carmel already has plenty of people, Councilman Godwin, suggesting with a grin that the letter be turned over to the Carmel Business Association.

The council had now got so comfortably into the grove of saying "no" that City Clerk Peter Mawdsley displayed some hesitation in requesting permission for a 14 day vacation to start September 11. The council turned shocked faces in his direction. What a suggestion for the city clerk to make! Besides, they doubted if such a thing were legal. Shaking his head dubiously, City Attorney Ferrante made a big business of thumbing through the ordinance code, finally announcing regretfully that he feared the law was on the side of the city clerk. The mayor put the matter up to the members, "Is there anyone here in favor of granting this request?" he demanded. Councilman Godwin said that in view of the fact the city clerk had raised the city assessment valuation a million dollars, he moved that the request be granted. This was seconded on the strength of the work the clerk had done in reducing the tax rate, and thirded on the same grounds, and three iron men beamed benignly on their startled clerk.

Settling down again to serious business the council heard a report from Councilman Godwin on his attendance at a meeting of the Monterey Bay Area League of California Cities at Watsonville on the subject of post-war planning. Godwin stated that federal allocation of funds will probably be made on the urgency of projects in the various communities, also that the state funds for site acquisition are limited to projects in line with state interests—the library would qualify, he said. However, state funds for plans and specifications are not so limited. Until legislation is passed, the matter of federal funds is uncertain. To keep abreast of developments, Godwin said he proposed to attend the meetings of the League in this locality, and would also attend at Sacramento. The mayor expressed hearty approval and added that when meetings occurred in this locality that do not conflict with council meetings, the other council members would accompany Godwin. The general impression created by the three members in the discussion was that it is now their intention to devote serious thought to post war planning problems.

There was a first reading of an ordinance regulating the sale of electrical appliances, and a second reading by title of an ordinance granting a $15 a month salary to the fire marshal.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

This will be the last Sunday of the pastoral duties of Dean Fred L. Farley, of the College of the Pacific, with the sermon-topic, "The Final Touch." The portrait-painter's art, seen in such competence in Carmel's Gallery and various studios and exhibits, will be compared to the accomplishment of Jesus in His religion and His followers' lives. Miss Elinor Smith's organ selections will all be Handel's compositions: "Solenne," "How Beautiful are the Feet," "Arioso," "Pastoral," and "Largo." Visitors are cordially invited to share in the service of worship at 11 o'clock. On next Monday Dr. James E. Crowther will return from his vacation and can be reached at the Manse.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my strength." These words from Isaiah comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, August 27, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Christ Jesus."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth," (John 1: 14).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included; "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive," (p. 332).

Mrs. McAllister Suicide, Illness Thought Reason

Mrs. Betty McAllister, 41, wife of Robert McAllister, Carmel Valley rancher, took her life Tuesday by placing the muzzle of a .30-.30 rifle in her mouth and pulling the trigger. She left a note saying, "This is a suicide." Carmel citizens were shocked by the comment on the front page of a San Francisco daily to the effect that "another tragedy has injected itself into the Jay Lovett murder case," with no further explanation than that Mrs. McAllister lives on the ranch adjoining the Lovett property. Mrs. McAllister has been suffering from ill health in recent months.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her brother, Harold C. Blakeslee of Chicago. Private services were held Thursday at Paul's Mortuary in Pacific Grove, the Rev. Stewart C. Potter officiating. Cremation followed.

By PHIL NESBITT

The implication of involvement, as suggested by the news accounts in the San Francisco papers, of the untimely death by suicide of Betty McAllister with the Lovett case met with stony disbelief in Carmel. The mere fact that the two tragedies happened to occur side by side holds no link. Carmel knew Betty and her husband, Bob, as fine, wholesome and enthusiastic beings. Now Betty is gone. A soul seeking outlet should engender the pity and sympathy of all who knew the physical being of that soul. The Village of Carmel which holds many, many of the friends of Betty McAllister, feels the blow, in fashion kindly and understanding of the sadness brought upon Bob McAllister.

Betty was an eastern girl. She and Bob have been married a good many years. A recent venture in chicken ranching up the Carmel valley had animated both of them. Bob is from Ohio. Incidental to being an efficient rancher, he is also a most able and talented wood sculptor. Betty had long been a writer of fiction. At one time she held a position with the King Feature syndicate in New York City. A small dog named Jasper has been an inseparable and jolly companion for several years.

Betty was a most scrupulous individual. It was her instinct of fair play, even in the dark moments of mortal contemplation which must have preceded her action, that prompted her to make doubly certain that her death should not be misconstrued by any person, official or otherwise. She left a note brief and pointed to the effect that her death was a suicide.

San Francisco papers have their fangs out for Carmel—Carmel, holding its happy and sad events closely to its bosom, much in the fashion of all self contained communities.

The Village extends its utmost sympathy to Bob McAllister in his sadness.

Chang Shu-Ch'i Attuned To Nature Paintings Indicate

for nature's works of art do not always last, while Chang's will live for the coming generations.

His talent seems to have no limits, for lately Professor Chang has included landscapes in his exhibits, and one in particular will attract the eyes of Carmelites as it is a stretch of our own coastline, done in the traditional Chinese style. In the small central gallery where this particular one hangs, are one or two more landscapes, several of birds, flowers, and butterflies, and a very striking one of autumn foliage. Here too is a study of Chinese celery cabbage, whose soft colors and perfect composition make this lowly vegetable blossom out as a true prima donna. Another here, a lotus plant, is one you will probably come back to again and again, as its dark tones and clear cut lines grow upon one's imagination. In the larger gallery are two very striking compositions which will undoubtedly catch your eye. A white peacock, with a grey background and another one in a blaze of color—these two are magnificently done, full of intricate, finely drawn detail. Yet, when I asked Professor Chang how long one of these had taken him to complete, this modest, unassuming man said, "Oh, that took a whole day." If he'd said a whole month I would not have been surprised! His bird and flower paintings evidently take anywhere from five minutes to half an hour to finish. Landscapes of course take longer, and here in the big gallery is a group of four which he has recently painted—Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter. There are proof enough that he is also a master of this style.

Sitting in this room and absorbing these paintings, one sees the little ducks half hidden behind a clump of weeds, the majestic and haughty peacocks, the roses and their attendant bees, the bamboo so crisp and green that you could almost hear it rattling in the breeze, the fish gliding wetly through a deep pool; and it came to me that this man must be very close to nature and understand it so thoroughly, even he does not realize it. This is one of the rules set down by the ancient Chinese masters, that one must be closely attuned to nature if one wishes to transmit it, through the winding and exacting road of painting, to posterity.

Need Vital For Local Women To Make Surgical Dressings

Miss Jane Burritt, chairman of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross, feels deep concern about the making of increased numbers of surgical dressings now that our Armed Forces are engaged in heavy fighting in France. Emphasizing the great need in its relation to the work of the Carmel Surgical Dressings Unit Miss Burritt says: "I feel the women of Carmel do not realize the seriousness of the Surgical Dressing Unit. At present the burden is being carried by all too few loyal workers and I want to stress the importance of this branch of our work and the urgent need for more workers particularly at this time when our casualty lists are higher than ever before. You do not have to spend a full day if you can stop in for a few hours when you are in the Village doing your shopping or going to the Post Office. No uniforms are required. A wash dress and a bandana or a cloth to cover the head are all that is necessary. Please do make an effort, and help your Red Cross to keep up the high standard which it has always maintained."

Lion Tamers Down Tail Twisters In Twilight Game

The Carmel Lions club played a five-inning soft ball game on the high school athletic field Wednesday evening. There were two eight-man teams, and sixteen umpires. Final score: Tail Twisters, 9; Lion Tamers, 10. And that is the official score in spite of the sixteen different opinions of the sixteen umpires.

Let's Hope Some Soldier Doesn't Ask For Blanding's Shirt

Enjoying the left hand lead-off column of page 1 of The Observer, Salinas Army Air Base weekly newspaper, is an item that will cause Carmel friends of Don Blanding to nod in concurrence—yes, that Don all over. The Observer story:

"The Base Library last week received a gift of five books from Don Blanding, well-known writer of California and Hawaii, and now a resident of Carmel. The books were five of his own writings, one of which the librarian had planned to order, because of its interest to flyers. These are the titles: 'Floridays,' 'Memory Room,' 'Rest of the Road,' and 'Pilot Bails Out,' all poetry, and a book about Hawaii, called 'Hula Moons.'

"The gift came as the result of a conversation Mr. Blanding had with one of the soldiers from this base, Private First Class Morris J. Brown, who met the author in Carmel. In the course of their talk, Pfc. Brown told Mr. Blanding that the library did not have 'Pilot Bails Out,' but was planning to order it. So because he likes to do things for the boys in the service, Mr. Blanding sent over the five books mentioned above, and wrote an interesting letter in which he briefly described his experiences in the army recently."

LIFE INSURANCE
for Household Appliances

It's a Good Policy to
with Timely Care and Repair

There are three things you can do to insure longer life and better performance from your household appliances . . .

1. Handle with care. Your appliances are not as new as they used to be—so give them old-age care. Avoid sudden jars or jolts. Be careful not to overheat them or overtax their capacity for work.
2. Take care to stop wear. Brush out the small collection of dirt and dust that gathers on appliances. Where needed, "doctor up" moving parts with a few drops of oil. Use a screw driver and cinch up loose screws or bolts.
3. Duration-ize with timely repair. When any appliance begins to "act up" and persists in making funny noises, call a repair man. Tell him what the trouble is and get that trouble remedied as soon as possible.

You will probably not be able to buy new appliances for a long time. Take care of what you have. Keep them in repair. Ask our local office for name of Authorized Service and Repair Dealer.
